

Frequency Management

As we have talked about repeatedly, your frequency not only affects the quality of your own life it also affects your client interactions and sessions. We can get awfully serious as humans, often focusing on what is wrong, what we wish we would have done or that something in the past did not happen.

The most important frequency management you can do is to listen to your internal thoughts. This does not mean don't ever get angry or sad, those are natural human emotions. Just pay attention to what your thoughts are and make adjustments if necessary.

Frequency management can be thought of in both long and short-term approaches. Meditating once is great. Meditating on a regular daily basis, even better! There is a real reason you are always hearing people suggest meditation. It works!

Below are some other things to consider:

- Self-love – remember to take care of yourself and like yourself, too!
- Play. Life should not be 100% work.
- Turn off the devices!
- Remember you are a Spirit having a Human experience
- Spend time learning something you are passionate about
- Soften your energy in a hard-playing world
- Take responsibility – leave the past in the past
- Be the Authentic You. Don't live by other's expectations or beliefs
- Remember you are a part of the Universe you inhabit
- Appreciate the immense diversity of all of Creation
- Focus on what you desire and not what you do not desire
- Be kind to yourself and don't expect perfection.
- Stop and smell the roses. Appreciate all forms of beauty in life
- Keep a gratitude Journal
- Walk in nature
- Pets. Don't have one? You can volunteer, foster or just help out a friend.
- Begin a meditative practice - even a limited one
- Appreciate being able to give to others
- Watch funny uplifting movies and avoid mainstream news
- Avoid gossip and negativity
- Move your body. It was designed to move and not sit all day!
- Decide to be in control of your life and stop being a victim of anything.
- Breathe – Just breathe. Breathe deeply and keep the oxygen moving
- Scents – Like essential oils and incense

- Sound. Singing bowls, soft music, toning
- Face your fears- move past your comfort zone
- Surround yourself with loving positive people
- Laugh, laugh, laugh
- Volunteer to help others in small or large ways.

Feeling a bit off before a session or just want a tune up? Here is my go-to routine:

- A bit of exercise, a walk, in the woods or meadow if possible.
- A Salt Bath – preferably one with candles
- Frankincense and Myrrh essential oil dropped in the bath
- Quiet time- at least 10 minutes of zero sound or input of any kind
- Solfeggio or high frequency music on the way to the studio or after I arrive
