

Session Type: All of the Above

Definition

The client experiences multiple session types.

How can you tell?

They “leapfrog” or jump from one type of experience to a different type of experience. They can experience a simple human life, then an animal life, then an energy life and then connect with Source all within the same session. This is not unusual.

Basic Exploration

Explore each scene as if it was the first scene and take good notes!

More Specific Questions or Directions

Use any and all Questions from previous Session type documents as needed. When you get to the “Higher Wisdom” or Higher Self or “SC” ask HOW all of these disparate experiences relate to the client or to each other.

An example of a Leapfrog or All of the above Session.

Client Jane first sees herself as a happy little girl in the woods who lives with her grandmother. You explore the scene until it seems like there is no more information and you close that scene and move her to an important day or the next scene...

And she then is floating through space as an energy being observing life on a pink planet. You explore that experience as thoroughly as you can and then you move to the next important time or next scene and...

Jane finds herself in a white room with two chairs. She is sitting in one and her spirit guide is sitting in the other one.

This is very common and in the third scene you have the perfect set up to begin to ask your client's questions! You can ask the guide if they have a message and if they can answer the questions. If they can't answer the questions then you ask them who can?
