

Beyond Quantum Healing - Combined Scripts

Water Alchemy Script

Heart Coherence Script

Induction Script (with online option, includes protection/connection and bringing out sections)

Water Alchemy Script

And now we will set and verbally state our intention for our journey together.

Doing this while being surrounded and supported by our combined teams is very powerful as their energy and support will amplify and broadcast this intention across vast realms of multi-dimensional reality.

We will first infuse our water with this intention as well. So, bring your right hand and place it over the (glass/bottle) and imagine if you will, a beautiful light above your crown. And begin to think about the intention we set for today's session.

And in a moment I will have you repeat your intention after me, and as you do, breathe in and feel your being-ness combine with the color and the light above you and as you speak your intention - breathe out of your mouth, exhale through the mouth and follow this energy and the colors down the arm and speak the words of your intention and the colors into the water.

We are visualizing that light and that emotion and intention into the water as we invoke the I AM presence.

Okay, here we go

Imagine the colors and light.

Breathe them in to your crown and body and breathe them down into the water.

And now we add the intention and do the same thing.

So, repeat after me:

I invoke my 'I AM' presence, and my intention for this session is – (state the intention that was previously created by you and your client)

Now, drink your water as I drink mine and the intention and the energies will flow throughout our bodies and all of our energy fields.

Heart and Mind Coherence Script

(Client should be reclining at this point)

And now place your right hand upon your heart. And breathe deeply.

Deeply in, and deeply out.

In through the nose and out through the mouth.

And I will do the same.

(Let your client hear you breathe, too)

Just breathe in and breathe out.

Feel your chest expand and your hand move up...and down...with your breath.

And feel yourself relaxing, letting go, letting any cares of the day just fade away.

Breathe.

And now if you will, I want to imagine that your heart itself is breathing that air in...and out.

Just imagine that your heart is breathing and then moving the air throughout your body.

We are bringing the heart and mind into coherence as we do this.

Just breathe.

Each breath in and out of your heart connects you completely with your original life force energy.

Each breath in and out reminds us that and our deepest connection with Source and our own greatest wisdom resides within the realm of the heart space.

In and out.

In and out.

Your heart knows.

My heart also knows.

In and out. And we are aligning our energies, and our hearts and our minds.

Each breath in and out of your heart connects you completely with Source.

And now you may place your hands in any position in which they are comfortable and just relax again and we will begin.

BQH Induction Script

(If eyes are not already closed) - I would like you now to just close your eyes and begin to breathe.

(Include this following paragraph for online sessions)

Remembering that even if we need to adjust our technology – our deep energetic connection will remain with no change. We'll just reconnect our devices and continue and not be bothered at all. All you need to do is click that same link and I'll be here waiting for you. And if our combined energy is simply too powerful for the Internet to handle, I'll just call you on your phone and we'll just continue in that way.

And now just follow my voice.

As we gather here now, in this safe and sacred place I ask that only the highest and most Divine Original Source Energy Expressions and Beings be allowed to participate.

I invite (client's name) guides, angels, cosmic and soul family, (client's name) higher self and (client's name) from the future AS an ascended master to join us today.

Also, I invite my own guides, angels, cosmic and soul family, my higher self and myself from the future as an ascended master to assist and participate in (client's name) journey.

And now that (client's name) is surrounded by all of our combined teams, we ask that our and that their energy amplify and broadcast (client's name) intention for this session across all realms of multi-dimensional reality to support him/her and we ask for the most benevolent outcome for all.

When you are connected in this way to only the highest and most divine original Source beings you know that you are safe and that you are protected in every way. And being surrounded by these beings and infused with the light of Source itself, you begin to feel maybe a warmth of a vibration or just a sense of deep knowingness that you can access any wisdom you seek.

With each breath this truth vibrates deeper within your body,
within your bones
and your blood and your cells

and at the same time this connection expands your consciousness and expands your awareness.

And as your awareness expands, you find it easy to just let go of ALL expectations about what might be in store for your journey.

You find it easy to release the idea of anything at all needing to be in any certain way.

And you find that that is a very nice feeling indeed.

Leave your body with me here and now,

and I will care for you in the softest way.

Just follow my voice, I'll be right here, all the while.

So, imagine that you are sitting outside in an open landscape,
in a space not quite here, yet not quite there,
familiar
in the deepest sense,
familiar
to your very essence of being.

In this space, there is truth

And there is peace and quiet and stillness and is-ness itself.

Presence.

You simply are. You are, you are.

Nothing here holding you down
Nothing here holding you back
Nothing here keeping you from where you need to go.

Your day has come
Your time has come
Your time is here
Your time is now

the ultimate silence,
the ultimate peace,
the ultimate stillness

Just you. Just being.

And imagine if you will the air, the space just in front of you begins to shimmer and shift and sparkle and you begin to see something appearing before you.

Just right there...in the air...

An opening into another space, it looks a bit like a tunnel...

And you watch, and you wonder, and you feel your body begin to smile.

And as you watch you notice that at the end of that tunnel there is moving swirling beautiful crystalline light.

This light is magnificent, the most beautiful sparkling platinum/golden/silvery light you've ever seen.

This is pure photonic light.

And you know what you see before you is a living consciousness portal, a sacred gateway...

And your spirit begins to lightly rise up and away from your human form, and the essence of you moves toward the light.

Through this portal of light are all of the stars and all of the worlds and all of the lives

you have lived and are yet to live,

all of the loves
you have known and are yet to know

All of your family here and now and then and when and all and everything you have ever known as any being and non-being

And there is home, home, home.

and so you float into the light and find yourself amidst a space so vast with colors so clear and beautiful and so unique that they are yours and yours alone.

And as you float you feel so safe, so warm, so comfortable.

You are traveling to the most relevant time
You are traveling to the most necessary place through dimensions that are known and unknown, through the very fabric of the light, you move and travel and float.

Floating to the most necessary time
Floating to the most relevant place

Moving through the barriers of where you thought you could not go further you move Through the barriers of where you have never been before and never before imagined you go.
And you do because you can, and you are the very essence of this movement and light.

Arriving here now, is the most relevant time
Arriving here now, is the most necessary place

And as the movement slows, you begin to gather your bearings.
And as the movement stops you begin to feel your point of view

Here. Now.
In this time.
In this place.
The most relevant and necessary time and place.

And as you feel yourself now, in this time, and in this place, I want you to tell me the very first things that you see or the very first impressions that you have as you begin to understand where you are and what is happening around you.

Bringing back to every day awareness

We're going to bring your light body back to your physical body now... just bringing your energy back to your physical form. All of your renewed and realigned and vibrant energy is returning now into your body.

But before you open your eyes you take note- of the expansion of your heart and the increased depth of your wisdom and knowing and you send gratitude to all who participated in your journey today.

And you are returning to your everyday awareness and consciousness. Feeling yourself return now to this room and the present day and time. Just waking up naturally and completely and fully. And you can begin to stretch and move and open your eyes when you are ready.

Alternatively use or add a traditional count out with numbers.

1. You are beginning to wake up now
2. You can move your arms and legs and it feels so good to stretch and move
3. You are now back in this room and coming back to your body completely
4. Coming completely back into your physical form and every day conscious awareness
5. Feeling wonderful, refreshed, energized. You are fully awake. Welcome back!