

Session Type: Human Past Life

Definition

The client experiences a physical human life as a male or female in any time period on Earth

How can you tell?

The story is familiarly “human” and descriptions of the physical form seem human as well as the storyline.

The landscape descriptions are familiar and describe known Earth geography. Sometimes historical figures are mentioned, or historical events are played out.

Basic Exploration

Investigate the body and its physical health

Explore primary human relationships

Explore several important days in the life

Possible death scene/afterlife exploration

What is the story? Let's find out.

Move through important events or important days as in any session. 3 days/events are common but it might be only one or it might be 5 or 7.

You can ask for the client to move to “the last day of that life” to find out about how they pass, if they do not go there by themselves. Ask who is with them, how they are passing and that they do not need to experience it directly if they don't wish. They can watch it “as a movie” or “from above.”

After they pass, you can ask who is there to meet them (if any). You can ask what happens next - or you can ask to speak to the inner wisdom, Higher Self, the healing team or ask for a spirit guide to take them to these places.

You can remind your client (if they seem to be stalling or struggling) that they must lend their voice to any of these beings who are there to be able to hear them. They can- they should- imagine what those beings would say! If you are brand new to this work and/or past life regression, please read Dolores Cannon's book, “Five Lives Remembered” I suggest reading this book cover to cover before beginning your practice.
